About Jeremiah E. Burke High School

The Jeremiah E. Burke is a Boston Public School and the first high school in Massachusetts to come out of “turnaround status.” To see such improvements, the Burke strongly believes in providing educational experiences that support the whole child. The school takes a trauma-sensitive approach, which is representative of one of the school’s core values: perseverance. The Burke is located in the Grove Hall neighborhood of Boston and is known for its strong commitment to serve students and families from the community.

Public Transportation:

The Burke is a five-minute walk from the 28, 22, and 29 buses in Grove Hall.

Parking:

Non-metered street parking is available on Washington Street and cross streets, but be mindful of the signs and scheduled street cleaning days.

Accessibility

The Burke's main entrance has a wheelchair ramp on the left side of the building that leads to the front doors. The Writers' Room is located on the first floor of the building.

A single-occupancy, unisex/gender-neutral restroom is located next to the Main Office on the first floor.

A water fountain, refrigerator, and microwave are available for volunteers to use.

Check-In Procedure:

Enter the school on Washington Street using the middle set of doors. The doorbell is to the right of the doors. Visitors must sign in using the guest binder in the lobby.

The Writers' Room is located in room 226. From the lobby, go straight down the central hallway and the Writers' Room will be on your left.
