About the John D. O'Bryant High School

The John D. O'Bryant School of Mathematics and Science is a diverse, supportive community of learners that engages in a rigorous and comprehensive Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics program integrated with Humanities. This college-preparatory exam school enables students to reach their full potential and become leaders who will shape the direction of society. The O'Bryant was the site of 826 Boston's first Writers' Room.

Public Transportation:

The O'Bryant is a five-minute walk from Roxbury Crossing on the Orange Line. It is less than a minute walk from the 66 and 22 buses.

Parking:

Non-metered street parking is available on Roxbury Street and other side streets. Pay attention to resident parking and street cleaning notices. Parking can typically be found within a five-minute walk of the O'Bryant.

Accessibility

The O'Bryant's main entrance on Malcolm X Boulevard has a wheelchair ramp. The Writers' Room is located on the first floor. A water fountain, refrigerator, and microwave are available for volunteers to use, and two, single-occupancy, unisex/gender-neutral restroom are available around the corner from the Writers' Room.

Check-In Procedure:

Enter the school on Malcolm X Boulevard using the set of doors to the right. The doorbell is located to the right of the doors. Visitors must sign in using the sign-in tablet to the left once you enter the building. Please remove all headphones, hats, and sunglasses before signing in!

The Writers' Room is located in room 2-109. From the front entrance, walk straight ahead, take the second left, and continue straight ahead. Once you reach the lockers, go through the double doors ahead of you. Follow the hallway until you reach the Writers' Room on your left.

Local Favorites for Coffee or Lunch:

Dudley Cafe serves coffee and Indian-Asian dishes. It's located in the Bruce C. Bolling Building at 15 Warren Street.

Express Cafe serves Somali food. It's located near Nubian Square at 1127 Harrison Avenue.

For pizza, check out AK's Pizza across the street from Roxbury Crossing at 1427 Tremont st.
